

Advocacy

Waypoint understands the barriers victims/survivors face. Waypoint offers advocacy within the legal, medical and social services systems.

Advocates can provide you with the information, support, and referrals needed to navigate agencies such as employment, housing, education, child protection, law enforcement, childcare, and transportation.

Advocates can also be present during any medical exam, police interview, legal appointment, or court appearance regarding domestic violence.